

The Tradition Continues

Over the past four decades Siemens Transportation Group Inc. has proven to be one of the largest and most successful transportation companies in Canada. The company has been on the rise since 1962, when Erwen Siemens first established Kindersley Transport Ltd.

Siemens Transportation Group Inc. now consists of ten companies, each uniquely different to fit North America's transportation needs. Even though the companies are individualistic they still have many similarities, one of them being family. Erwen Siemens was involved in his father's business and today all of Erwen's sons currently hold management positions, creating a successful, family oriented company.

Every year, the Saskatchewan Trucking Association recognizes a deserving individual with the prestigious Service to the Industry award. The recipient is a prominent member of the trucking industry. This year Doug Siemens, President of Siemens Transportation Group Inc., received the award, making him the third generation of Siemens to win. Doug's grandfather, K.K. Siemens, received the award in 1959, as well as Doug's father, Erwen, in 1983.

Siemens Transportation Group Inc. will be celebrating 47 years of family and business together. The company welcomes you to check out their website to read more about their history, growth, employment opportunities and programs.
